

Publication date: 24 January 2025
Price: R380,00
Pages: 292
Format: 234mm x 152mm
Binding: Paperback / softback
Category: Current affairs
ISBN-13: 9780624093480
Barcode: 9780624093480
Edition: 2
Impression: 0

Digital Edition

Publication Date: 24 January 2025
Price: R320,00
Epub ISBN: 9780624093497

* Price is subject to change

Sales points

- Fully revised second edition including two new chapters.
- Written from a South African and African perspective.
- Positive and upbeat: discover why the builders – rather than the burglars – ultimately win.
- Like Freakonomics, Fourie explains complex concepts in a quirky, fun way.

'This is the first book to bring Africa in from the margins and place it centrally into the big narratives of world economic history. The subject will never be the same again.' - James Robinson, University of Chicago and 2024 Nobel laureate

Johan Fourie

Our Long Walk to Economic Freedom, 2nd edition

Why we live better than our ancestors

Why do the Japanese play rugby? How did Einstein help create Eskom? Who is the richest man in history? And what do an Indonesian volcano, Frankenstein and Shaka Zulu have in common?

These are some of the questions Johan Fourie explores in this fully revised and expanded second edition of his bestseller Our Long Walk to Economic Freedom – an entertaining, accessible economic history spanning everything from the human migration out of Africa 100 000 years ago to the present. This enriching journey through an African-centred history reveals the roots and reasons for prosperity.

Why does one group flourish, but another continues to struggle? Do we have better lives than our ancestors? Fourie shows in his unique and engaging style why the builders of societies – rather than the burglars – ultimately win.

About the author

Johan Fourie is Professor of Economics at Stellenbosch University. He is a founding member of the African Economic History Network and director of LEAP, the Laboratory for the Economics of Africa's Past. He has published award-winning peer-reviewed articles and is a regular columnist for News24 and Rapport. He lives in Stellenbosch.

Publicity